SIXTH YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 1897.

ONE CENT.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop a note to this effect:

A. S. Conrad is in Cincinnati today on business.

Mr. Jack Higgins has returned to Shawhan after a visit here.

Mrs. C. Shultz Wood returned yesterday noon from Covington.

Miss Mae Burgess is at home after a visit to Miss Anna Noonan at Covington.

Mrs. James Cummings is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Woolman at Millersburg.

If you have an item of news, please call up THE LEADER, Telephone 33, and send it in.

Bargain Cash Week at Hoffield's.

The personality left by the late Claude Weirick amounts to $11.91.

May Davenport will be the next attraction at the Opera house.

Nailers at Ironton decline to submit to a cut of 30 per cent. in their wages.

Thomas F. Hargis threatens to run for Circuit Judge in the Louisville office.

Mr. Jesse L. Pangburn and Miss Lula Kandle were married near Ripley a few days ago.

The personal property of the late Mrs. Harriet Boyd Weaver has been appraised at $888.50.

Miss Mattie Davis, who has been suffering some time from rheumatism, is improving slowly.

When a girl has first learned how to kiss, she begins to wonder how she got along without it.

The way to drink is to take one drink and then let it alone; and then take another and then let that alone.

Mr. W. F. Tucker, who moved from Germantown to Ripley a few weeks since, has returned to Germantown.

William Liebold, a telegraph messenger boy at Lancaster, Pa., has stolen and spent $4,000 since October and is now in jail without a penny.

Kleinhans & Simonson, proprietors of the "Mammoth" clothing and furnishing goods store, have decided to retire from business in Louisville.

The Supervisors of Tax completed their preliminary work yesterday and adjourned till February 9th, when they will meet to hear grievances.

In anticipation of a big rush of business the Frank Owens Hardware Co. has put in a new floor and hung the hatch doors on invisible hinges.

A defective fuse caused a slight blaze at the plant of the Mayville Carriage Company yesterday. It was extinguished without an alarm. Loss trifling.

Crowding a half column ad into an inch space is like trying to ram a market ball into a pistol barrel. Something is liable to bust. Usually it is the advertiser.

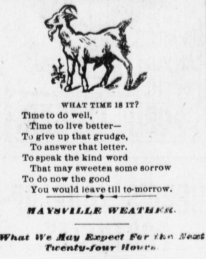

Mr. R. L. Gillespie's "Cyclone Store" at Lexington was struck by a fire a few nights ago. Loss said to be $3,000. The friends of Bob will be glad to hear that he was insured.

In Lexington there is a club the youngest member of which is 89 years old. All the others are over 90. The club meets regularly for purposes of mutual improvement and social pleasure.

The farmers here were wishing for a snow to protect the wheat. They have it now. And since McKinley has been elected, if the farmer doesn't see what he wants just let him ask for it.

Charles Hafer, the young man, who was so seriously injured at the Cotton Mills a few weeks ago, was able to be out of bed last evening. It will be remembered that he was struck in the head by a rope-bobbin which flew out of the machine, and it was thought he would die.

Our Carlisle friends don't practice what they preach. Theoretically, they're Free-traders; practically, they're Protectionists. Monday they had Mr. William Treats of this city, who represents Hechinger & Co., arrested for selling cloth in their town without having paid a license tariff.

Archbishop Martinielli says many Priests have probably been killed by the rebels in the Philippines.

News of the massacre of several British Consuls and nearly 200 native carriers in Africa has been confirmed.

After being closed down for nearly two years, the broom factory of Neff & McSwain at Richmond has resumed.

The members of Friendship Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, will meet at the Hall Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Let all be present.

Pleas Moody and Lafayette Powell, farmers, residing near Richmond, became involved in a quarrel and Moody shot Powell in the bowels twice. He will die.

Mr. Robert M. Willett of the Little Pennidiss has taken the house of Colonel Robert G. Lynn, adjoining Wells & Anderson's Stable, and is fitting it up for a saloon.

Meadowthorpe, the home of Colonel James E. Pepper, who recently made an assignment, was built by Master Commissioner Morton at Lexington and purchased by Mrs. Pepper for $28,000.

At Big Hill W. H. Moody, a merchant, shot Theophilus Powell Monday night, Powell dying Tuesday. The shooting was the outcome of a grudge of over twenty-five years standing.

Douglas Day, a young lawyer of Mt. Sterling, and Levi Kidd, an old colored man, were in the former's room. Day was "examining" a pistol, and the old colored man was witnessing the examination. All at once the pistol went off and the old colored man will probably die.

Mrs. Emily Fields of Cynthiana sued for a divorce from her husband, Menno Fields. In her petition she charges that her husband left the state with one Dora Feaback, representing her as his wife. Mrs. Fields says she has never lived with her since their marriage, July 10th, 1896. Fields had considerable money left him by relatives.

When President Ingalls took the Chesapeake and Ohio in 1888 the gross earnings of the roads were somewhere about $4,000,000 a year, and he then said if he could get them up to $6,000,000 in four years he would be satisfied. It was eight years ago when he took charge of the roads, and they are now crowding the $12,000,000 mark.

Shortly after Charles Hafer was hurt at the Cotton Mills, THE LEADER man asked Superintendent Scott if he was likely to die.

"We can't tell just yet," replied the Superintendent; "but, oh, my, he swears like a pirate!"

"Then he'll get well," said the experienced pencil pusher.

And that's what he is doing.

You wouldn't think of going to a person's house unless you were invited to do so; and one's business place is just as much his "castle," and is just as sacred from intrusion as his dwelling. Therefore, when a merchant wishes people to come and see him, and to buy his goods, he invites them; and the acknowledged way to do that is by placing an invitation in THE LEADER, where everyone can see it.

Here's a pointer to those who drive horses. It is said that runaway horses are almost unknown in Russia. No one drives there without a thin cord with a running noose around the neck of the animal. When the horse bolts the cord is pulled and the horse stops as soon as it feels the pressure on its windpipe.

PROFITABLE PUBLICITY.

BARGAIN ADVERTISING PAYS—PEOPLE EXPECT BARGAINS.

By NATHAN C. FOWLER, JR., Doctor of Publicity.

Copyright, 1896, by Nathan C. Fowler, Jr., Tri-June Building, New York.

There must be bargains.

People expect them.

People will have them.

The real bargain is legitimate.

Bargain advertising pays.

Bargain advertising is simply another form of specialty advertising.

It has all the advantages of "one thing-at-a-time."

When you advertise a bargain, be sure it is a bargain.

Bargain advertising must be honest.

The bargain advertisement must occupy large space.

The price must be given.

Do not be afraid of the large type, the large space and the boldness of true statements.

Don't advertise the same bargain the same way twice.

Don't tell so much about the bargain in your advertisement that people will have no curiosity to look at it.

Bargain advertisements should have one very large headline, and sometimes one is enough.

Set the price in the largest type.

If you only give one figure, and that is an even number of dollars, there is no necessity of filling up space with ciphers.

Hand bills may pay, but not one-tenth as well as the large, bold advertisement in the local newspaper.

Not because the publisher says it, not because I say it, but because experience proves it: "Newspaper advertising is the only indispensable form of local publicity, and the only kind that is liable to pay ninety nine times out of a hundred."

AUTOTELEGRAPH.

Edison Perfects a New Invention to Transmit Pictures.

Edison has perfected an invention which will transmit a picture by telegraph. Speaking on the subject, he said:

"There is nothing absolutely new in this idea. It is simply a development of the old Caselli system, in which the transmission was made along a sort of pendulum. I had thought out and perfected the machine some years ago, when the telephone came along and stopped me. A business man desiring to give a description of a design in drygoods, prints or in forms could make his meaning readily clear over the telephone."

"It afterwards occurred to me that the perfection of this little instrument might benefit my friends in the newspaper profession, and it is for them that I have designed it. I want to say that no newspaper has or will have a monopoly in the autotelegraph. I shall reserve the patent and sell the machines to any newspaper that cares to buy it."

"The process is simple enough. The artist makes his sketch in the usual manner. It doesn't matter what it may be. Directly the drawing is finished he wraps it around the little cylinder at the end of the machine; he presses a button, and in the same instant, while the machine revolves, the man in the newspaper room, say 1,000 miles away, is reproducing that sketch."

"I can now say the instrument is ready for use. You could handle it at once with absolute certainty. Before I attempt to put it on the market I shall try to reduce it to a portable size, so that the artist in his pocket, dump it down on any kind of telegraph table and transmit the drawing with just as much ease and as little ceremony as he would use in telegraphing a 200 word story."

"In less than four months from this time the instrument in its portable form will be ready for the market. We can now use the instrument at 500 miles with ease, at 1,000 miles with reasonable accuracy, and before I have finished I will try to span the continent from Prince to New York."

WE'RE FOR AMERICAN AMERICANS!

THE St. Louis Globe-Democrat, one of the ablest Republican newspapers in the country, says Governor BRADLEY has been criticized and out of Kentucky for not calling Governor Bradley, under a special session of the Legislature to choose a successor to Senator BLACKBURN, whose term expires on March 4th. In answer to this fault-finding he points out the important fact that a legal election cannot be secured in that way. The law provides that the Legislature chosen next preceding the expiration of a Senator's term shall, on the second Tuesday after its meeting and organization, proceed to elect his successor, and that a vote shall be taken each day until an election is accomplished. A like provision is made as to a vacancy existing on the meeting of the Legislature or occurring during a session. The Kentucky Legislature met last January and undertook to perform this duty, but failed to reach an election, and adjourned sine die.

Thus, Governor BRADLEY contends, his power in the case was exhausted, that is to say, an election not having been effected before adjournment the law ceased to be applicable in that respect and there is no authority left for the choosing of a Senator until a vacancy occurs, which will not be until BLACKBURN's term expires. Consequently, a Senator elected before that time would not have a valid claim to the office.

It is certain that no vacancy now exists, either actual or implied, as Senator BLACKBURN is to Washington performing the duties and drawing the salary of the office.

There is equal reason to say that the failure of the Legislature to elect during the regular session, as directed by the law, was equivalent to a forfeiture of authority in the case, inasmuch as the law makes no provision for any further proceedings of that sort. To be sure the Senate is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members and might vote to seat a man elected at a special session; but in this particular instance, the circumstances forbid expectation of such a result. BLACKBURN's successor is to be a Sound Money man, and the Free-Silver Senators, who constitute a majority, would vote solidly against his admission for political reasons. It is evident, therefore, that Governor BRADLEY's course in the matter is a sound and judicious one, and that he does not deserve censure for his refusal to aid in bringing about an election that would be premature and unauthorized. While conceding that it is of vast importance that Kentucky should elect a Senator, he insists that "it is of much greater importance that he should be seated after he is elected." The state has only itself to blame for the

WILL ACCEPT.

Sherman to Be Secretary of State in McKinley's Cabinet.

The Senator's Inclinations Were Not In This Direction Originally.

But After Careful Consideration It Seems to Him That He Can Do More Service in the Cabinet Than in the Senate.

CANTON, O., Jan. 14.—A message received here from Washington Wednesday night makes it reasonably certain that Senator Sherman's present intention is to accept the position of secretary of state in Maj. McKinley's cabinet. It was intimated to Senator Sherman several days ago, as indicated in these dispatches, that Maj. McKinley would be glad to know whether or not Sherman would accept a cabinet position. Senator Sherman's inclinations were not in that direction originally and his first thought was according to friends here, that he ought to remain in the senate, but after careful consideration on the subject it seems to him that he can, perhaps, be of more service to the country and to his party at the head of the department of state. If present arrangements are not changed, and there is nothing to indicate they will be, Senator Sherman will occupy the leading place in Maj. McKinley's cabinet.

Maj. McKinley had an unusually large number of callers Wednesday. Among them was Congressman C. B. Landis, of Indiana. Said he: "I think the republicans will be able to hold Indiana, but it will be a matter of difficulty to do so, unless there is a general and genuine revival of business within the next year and a half. The free silver sentiment is not dead in Indiana, and will live as long as times are so gloomy as they are now." The suggestion of John Sherman for secretary of state and Charles E. Smith, of Philadelphia, for secretary of the treasury meets with much favor in Indiana, and both appointments will be regarded as strong and fitting ones.

The committee on resolutions got together at 9 o'clock at the Denison and began considering the 100 propositions which were offered at Tuesday night's session. Mr. H. H. Hanna was elected chairman of the committee. Nearly all the suggested plans contained in some form the gold standard, denomination of fiat money, proposals that the greenbacks be retired, and that national banks be permitted to issue notes to the full amount of bonds held.

At 10:30 the convention was called to order by Chairman Patterson, and a multitude more of plans for the revision of the monetary and financial system was brought to the front.

Charles E. Adams, president of the Massachusetts state bank, presented a resolution recommending the organization by states of business men in order to expedite similar conventions in the future.

E. C. Camp, of Knoxville, Tenn., advocated a fiat law sufficient to yield a revenue of $500,000,000 and the total retirement of the greenbacks and other government indebtedness at the rate of at least $100 per year.

Representative C. N. Fowler, of New Jersey, a member of the house committee on banking and currency, was asked to speak. He asserted that President Cleveland's declaration that the last resources of the government would be exhausted in the event of a depression developed at once, with the result that after a long struggle a demand for a fiat law was made. The bill was voted down by a narrow majority.

Albert W. Perry, of Galveston, Ill., offered a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the convention that the currency and banking system should be amended as to secure, first, an elastic currency; second, safety with a bond issue; third, the security of depositors; fourth, protection of stockholders against dishonest officials; fifth, the retirement of paper currency; sixth, a non-partisan finance committee to suggest to congress desirable changes as the necessity for them develops.

Brief addresses were made by Joseph Wharton, of Philadelphia, E. C. Camp, of Knoxville, Tenn., and then the committee on resolutions, not having fulfilled the expectation of an early report, the convention took a recess until 4:30 o'clock.

The convention reconvened at 4:30 and adopted a declaration of what it intended in its proceedings. It was on the subject by a practically unanimous vote. This declaration included a demand for the gold standard and the retirement of the demand obligations of the government. Accompanying this was a proposition for the appointment of a commission to investigate and report by bill or otherwise upon the evils and remedies of the currency system. This was the unanimous conclusion of the committee on resolutions, a majority of the committee, and the recommendations of the committee were affirmed by the substantially unanimous vote of the convention.

This was not secured, however, without much opposition and an exceedingly animated battle. The following are the resolutions as adopted:

First, that the present gold standard should be maintained.

Second, that steps should be taken to insure the ultimate retirement of the United States paper by a gradual and steady process, and so as to avoid injurious contraction of the currency and the consequent insolvency of the country, and that until such retirement process has been completed a separation of the revenue and note issue departments of the treasury be effected.

Third, that a banking system be provided which should furnish credit facilities to every portion of the country, and have a circulation and especially with a view of securing such a distribution of the currency of the country as will tend to equalize the rates of interest and the volume of the currency of the country.

Fourth, that the purpose of effectively promoting the above objects.

Fifth, that the members of this convention be appointed by the chairman to act as an executive committee, while this convention is not in session, with full powers of this convention. The executive committee should have the power to increase its membership by no more than ten members, and to elect thereof shall at all times constitute a quorum of said committee.

Sixth, that the special committee shall have special charge of the collection, receipt and disbursement of contributions, voluntarily made for all purposes, shall have power to call the convention together at any time, and may seem best to said committee to do so, and said committee shall continue in office with power to call the convention at any time, and may seem best to said committee to do so, and said committee shall continue in office with power to call the convention at any time, and may seem best to said committee to do so.

WOOL GROWERS

Of Ohio Disagree in Regard to Tariff Protection.

Resolutions Reported Demanding the Restoration of Protection on Wool.

An Amendment Endorsing the Dingley Bill Passed—If the Incoming Administration Does Nothing, the Farmers Will Go for Free Silver.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 14.—For the first time the Ohio Wool Growers' association in its meeting Wednesday was not unanimous regarding tariff protection. The resolutions reported from the committee sets forth that the removal of the tariff on wool had ruined the sheep raising industry and demanded the restoration of protection.

They did not endorse the Dingley bill now before the ways and means committee of the house. Judge Wm. Lawrence, president of the association, moved to amend by inserting an endorsement of the Dingley bill. It was developed in the discussion that followed that the committee thought the bill too radical and would not report the resolutions with the endorsement in them. The amendment offered by Judge Lawrence was not adopted.
